Race 5 Friday July 11 2014

The winds where up this afternoon a nice 14 knots and I said great for tonight's race....I spoke to soon at 4 the winds had dropped to 3 knots great I thought to myself no body is going to want to go out but as the skippers meeting came, magically everybody started to appear as if they where being called to by the sirens of the sea blah blah blah.....ok we can't say it was the rum so it must be the sun. We had again a very tight start some might say a real tight start. I wasn't complaining I had a great start and I think that sea anchor worked on Lorna Doone as she just couldn't get going.

With light airs we took off to the first Mark and before you knew it the whole fleet was around heading to the second mark, at this point the winds became much lighter and the race committee called out to the fleet they where shortening the course even the serious racers had no complaints. But as luck would have it 300 feet from the finish line the wind died and the whole fleet sat. Slowly and I mean painfully slowly 9 boats managed to finish last boat finishing 2 hours and 31 minutes talk about die hearts. Again thanks too all that came out. Maybe next week we will have some wind.

Thanks to the race committee with out them there would be no races, and thanks to Marisa for all those delicious snacks she keeps creating.
